

TITLE:

RENEWABLE ENERGY CARRIER SYSTEM AND METHOD

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There is provided a renewable energy carrier system and method wherein the aluminum metal is the carrier. Aluminum metal is reacted with water in a catalytic reaction, thereby splitting the water into hydrogen, oxygen and forming a clean aluminum derivative. The hydrogen is converted into useful energy and the aluminum derivative is recycled back into aluminum metal.